Angélique Kidjo

SATURDAY OCTOBER 13 2012 at 8pm

For more than twenty years, "Africa's premier diva" (Time Magazine) has exuberantly shown the world that the music of her home continent is universal. Born in Benin, Grammy Award-winning singer/songwriter Angélique Kidjo is one of Africa's most internationally celebrated female musicians. Recently listed as one of the Guardian's Top 100 Most Inspiring Women in the World, Kidjo is a UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador and a tireless campaigner for women's health and girls' education in Africa. The prolific Kidjo has released twelve acclaimed albums during her long and celebrated career including her latest, Spirit Rising. Singing in English and French as well as Fon and Yorùbá from her native West Africa, Kidjo draws inspiration from Afropop, Caribbean zouk, Congolese rumba, jazz, gospel, and Latin styles. She has collaborated with many popular recording artists including Carlos Santana, Peter Gabriel and Alicia Keys. Don't miss the unstoppable musical force that is Angélique Kidjo.

Chucho Valdés Quintet

FRIDAY NOVEMBER 2 2012 at 8pm

Hailed as “the Dean of Latin jazz” and “one of the world’s great virtuosic pianists” by the New York Times, multi-Grammy Award-winner Chucho Valdés has recorded over 80 albums. With a long-reaching history in developing Afro-Cuban jazz, he is revered throughout the international jazz community. Valdés’ inventive style melds his diverse interests: classical, jazz, bop, Cuban and swing, with his superb dexterity on the piano. Perhaps best known for founding the influential Latin jazz band Irakere in 1972, Valdés continues to push his own musical boundaries yet remains beautifully consistent in his style. Born in Havana, Cuba in 1941, he has performed for over 50 years with his own bands and with countless jazz luminaries including Herbie Hancock, Dizzy Gillespie and Chick Corea.

Punch Brothers

SATURDAY NOVEMBER 24 2012 at 8pm

The New Yorker called their sound “a musical alchemy of old-time music and contemporary sensibilities.” They describe the songs from their third and latest acclaimed album, Who’s Feeling Young Now?, as “hard-charging string-band punk rock.” They’re the Punch Brothers, the New York City-based quintet of mandolinist Chris Thile, guitarist Chris Eldridge, bassist Paul Kowert, banjoist Noam Pikelny and violinist Gabe Witcher. Vanity Fair has hailed the new album as “their most expressive work yet as an ensemble – sophisticated, pop-y, kinetic and profound, all at once.” As virtuosic as it is freewheeling, the group evolved out of a 2007 collaboration on Thile’s string-band suite, The Blind Leading the Blind, which premiered at Carnegie Hall. The five members each have impressive resumes within the progressive string-band scene. We are thrilled to welcome the Punch Brothers for their Vancouver debut.

Pablo Ziegler Quartet with Regina Carter in "Tango Meets Jazz"

SATURDAY FEBRUARY 16
2013 at 8pm

Attention, tango fans – featuring one of the genre’s biggest stars plus a stunning jazz violin dynamo, this is the hot event of the year. Born in Buenos Aires, Argentina, Latin Grammy Award-winning pianist, composer and arranger Pablo Ziegler was tango Grand Maestro Astor Piazzolla’s collaborator and pianist for more than a decade. Since then, Ziegler has been reimagining this unique musical form, becoming the finest New Tango musician of his generation. American Regina Carter is one of the most popular violinists in modern music, known for her warm yet “breathhtakingly daring” style (Time Magazine). While firmly rooted in jazz, her influences have ranged from R&B, African to classical music. Together, Ziegler and Carter create a musical potion that’s as vibrant as it is positively intoxicating.

Featuring the Pablo Ziegler Quartet: Pablo Ziegler, piano; Claudio Ragazzi, guitar; Héctor del Curto, bandoneon; and Pedro Giraudó, bass. 7

Lila Downs

SUNDAY APRIL 21 2013 at 7pm

World-traveling singer Lila Downs dramatically fuses traditional Mexican music with blues, jazz, soul and even klezmer music in her original compositions, which all highlight the "ferocious sweep of her voice" (Boston Globe). Well-known for her lifetime of social activism, Downs works to maintain cultural identity, celebrating her indigenous Oaxacan heritage through song on her eleven albums. Her gorgeous new album, Pecados y Milagros (Sins and Miracles), was inspired by traditional votive paintings from Mexico, based on the recent exhibit of iconic art at the Museo Nacional de Arte (MUNAL) in Mexico City. It's a fascinating concept, made even more intriguing by Rolling Stone magazine's review that the album is "as daring as anything by Tom Waits." Based on the album, this unique performance will combine Downs' sumptuous music and vocals with projected images of paintings from the exhibit, weaving together a powerful combination of sight and sound. The results are sure to be spellbinding.

Simon Shaheen

The Call: Songs of Liberation

A place of world arts + cultures

SATURDAY APRIL 27 2013 at 8pm

Palestinian composer and musician Simon Shaheen has done more for bringing Arab music to the West than anyone else in recent memory. Known for his melodic ingenuity and his dazzling technique on both the violin and the oud, the central instrument in Arab music, Shaheen's style is based in traditional Arabic sounds and includes musical elements of jazz, world and classical. The Call: Songs of Liberation features a new composition by Shaheen as well as '50s and '60s anthems by some of the most popular composers of the Arab world. These songs have found new resonance in the recent freedom movements in the Middle East and North Africa. Featuring singers Naji Youssef and Nidal Ibourk and a guest dancer.

Subscribers to this concert will also receive a complimentary pass to attend the Museum of Anthropology exhibition Safar/Voyage: Contemporary Works by Arab, Iranian, and Turkish Artists, guest curated by Fereshteh Daftari. The exhibit is the first of its kind in Vancouver and will run April - September 2013.
