Nuba

Often regarded as one of the world's healthiest cuisines, Lebanese food combines the sophistication and subtleties of European cuisines with the exotic ingredients of the Middle and Far East. Here at Nuba, we offer authentic Lebanese cuisine in harmony and rhythm with modern times. We seek out the freshest ingredients— organic and local when available—and handpick them daily. A large portion of our menu items are vegan. All meats are halal, non-medicated, and hormone free. Food and juices are made to order, on the spot.

Chickpea

It all started with hummus. And our desire to bring our favourite Mediterranean staple to the streets of Vancouver. After launching our food truck in 2016, we set out to build a brick and mortar shop. Shifting the focus to serving up as many delicious, filling plant-based meals as possible. A whole lot of hummus and kitchen experiments later, Chickpea has become a Vancouver staple.

We pride ourselves on being a welcoming space to our diverse community, where a mosaic of cultures collide with the sole purpose of eating well and being kind. Chickpea can accommodate almost any dietary need and feed even the pickiest of eaters. Using wholesome ingredients prepared with love, we work hard every day to nourish people and maintain a minimal footprint on our planet.

Steve's Poke Bar

We like Poke made the traditional Hawaiian way: marinated fresh every day. Our Pacific Ahi Tuna, BC Salmon & whole Scallops are all marinated in with Steve's family childhood recipes. We marinate our Poke with the two Hawaiian classic Poke flavours, Shoyu & Spicy Mayo. We don't just serve you raw fish with sauce on top, we marinate them until they're rich with flavour of our imported Hawaiian spices & in-house sauces. Don't take our word for it, come try it yourself!

Poké, pronounced "POH-KAY", means "to chop" in Hawaiian. It is chopped cubes of raw fish marinated in Hawaiian salt, spices, and sauces. But hey that's a mouthful! So when your friends ask, you can tell them that Poke is cubed raw fish marinated with Hawaiian sauces & spices.

It all began in the summer of 2003, when Claudia Romo, originally from Michoacán, and Cecilia Dander, from Cocoyoc, Morelos, strangers to each other, arrived in Vancouver with a dream in their hearts and hope to build something beautiful. Little did they know, that journey would mark the beginning of a story that would make a before and after in the city's culinary scene.
